

POSTGRADUATE COURSES AT LONDON COLLEGE OF MUSIC

A postgraduate degree from the University of West London will develop your talent.

London College of Music \(LCM\) is the largest specialist music and performing arts institution in the UK. We welcome those who share our passion, whether your interests are in performance, composition, music technology, performing arts or music management.

Our career-focused courses are respected worldwide and are taught by practising industry experts, ensuring our graduates are among the most employable in the UK and beyond.

London College of Music (LCM) offers a diverse programme of postgraduate courses that complement and support one another. This creates a unique community of postgraduate students who share ideas and work closely together in a dynamic and supportive environment.

Our postgraduate portfolio includes:

Performance (classical/jazz /popular music)
Composition (concert music/film and television/electronic music)
Music Technology
Music Management
Record Production
Musical Theatre

All taught Masters courses consist of six subject-specific modules, a research methods module and a practical project or dissertation. At postgraduate level you will extend the depth of your knowledge, skills and experience. Our students gain unrivalled opportunities during their studies, leading them to pursue sought-after positions within the music industry. Scholarships for postgraduate students are also available.

The University of West London is based in the heart of the UK's music and media industry. With access to professional venues, studios and theatres, there's no better location to develop your skills. To find out more visit www.uwl.ac.uk/choirs

